

Federal government would get its money's worth

Comment: McCain's plan is the most radical. It would completely transform the way the federal government subsidizes private insurance and the way people have access to it.